

Chicago Tribune.

VOL. XIX.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

THE CONSPIRACY.

Medical Examination of Payne—He Is Pro- nounced Sane.

The Iowa Republican Con- vention—Governor Stone Re- nominated.

THE MISSOURI CONSER- VATIVE JUDGES RE- MOVED BY THE MILITARY.

Arrest of John Mitch- ell for Treason.

REPORTS OF GEN. SHER- IDAN AND MEADE.

Why General Warren Was Re- moved from Command.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR.

Splendid Oration to Gen. Grant in Pennsylvania.

Subscriptions to the 7-30 Loan $1,690,550.

FROM DESMOND.

The Republican State Convention— Special Message to the Chicago Tribune.

Portions of the Special Message.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRIOTS OF MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, June 1, 1865.

—The day is brightening—Practical

men will witness the fruits of the Federal rule;

and the rebels who have been plotting against us for so long a time will be dismally disappointed.

This is the hour, therefore, when the power of the republic has the power to rule the world, or as a shield to avert any particular person to the Presidency at 1865.

GEORGE KENDRICK'S PROCLAMATION.

How the Rebels can Control the Future of our Country.

Instructions in Regard to "The Lingering South."

(From the Montreal Telegraph.)

TO THE PATRI

